

Bright Young Things

Be it with color, texture or scent, new beauty accoutrements for the style-obsessed lighten up.

The Skinny

Wondering why French women look so svelte? Besides great genes and the mysterious powers of red wine, it might have something to do with L'Oréal Paris Sublime Slim system, Europe's reigning anticellulite product. Just introduced in the United States, the day gel smooths skin with caffeine, and the night product slims with highly concentrated antioxidants. Sadly, dreaming of thin thighs while wearing it doesn't speed progress.

Soft Curls

Makeup artist Mally Roncal is known for making sexy seem wholesome—clients from Maggie Gyllenhaal to Beyoncé flock to her when it's time to amp it up. So it's only fitting that Roncal would be the one to transform the notoriously intimidating eyelash curler into a cuddly, user-friendly tool. The star of her new cosmetics line, Mally Beauty, is the coveted Get the Last Lash Eyelash Curler, which delivers close-up-ready glam without that painful pinch. qvc.com

Taking Notes

